THE COLLECTION OF STATE AND COUNTY TAXES IN CENTRE COUNTY.

In several counties of the State the people of those counties are relieved of tax gatherers by having fixed days for the county Treasurer to meet the people of the different boroughs and townships at some convenient place and receive from them the amount assessed for State and County purposes. This method of collecting the taxes is admirable in all respects. It promotes promptness in the collection of the tax from the tax-payers and makes it certain that the tax when collected is promptly placed in the hands of the person whose duty it is to pay it out. It prevents many losses on account of defaulting collectors, causing great delay in getting the money out of the possession of those who are smart enough to use it for their own purpose as long as possible, and those counties which pursue this method claim that it saves fully three per cent. on the direct cost of collection. Can not Centre county have the same system in the collection of her State and County taxes? If not, why not? Does it require a special act of the Legislature for that purpose? If so let us have it and cure the defects of our present system in the collection of the taxes.

Let the tax-payers of Centre county look at the Auditors Report "showing the Receipts and Expenditures of Centre county from the 3rd day of January, 1870 to the 2nd day of January, 1871," as published in the Democratic Watchman, 24th of February, 1871, and in which the Auditors' report "Balances outstanding taxes on Duplicates of 1870 and previous years, &c.:

Making the defalcation of the different collectors, amount in the aggregate to the large sum of $44,329 74. This sum was due by the Collectors at the time the Auditors settled the Treasurers and Commissioners account; but the published statement says that since the settlement, "those marked with a * (star) have squared their Duplicates."

Thus showing the Collectors being indebted to the County	$44,320 87
Have paid since	4,964 50
Balance due County	$39,356 25

Leaving in the hands of the defaulting collectors thirty-nine thousand five hundred and fifty-six dollars, &c., which should have been paid into the County Treasurer; a sum sufficient to pay off the county indebtedness and leave a balance in the Treasury—if the Auditors are correct—of $5,123 69, balance in favor of the county over all liabilities. Yet the county is in debt paying interest for money borrowed, while there is nearly $40,000 in the hands of collectors. And a few of these collectors, residents of Bellefonte, as is shown by the Auditors Report, were indebted for the years 1866, 1867, 1868, 1869 and 1870, where there are banks, wealth and facilities which other parts of the county are deprived of. Yet without excuse or reason, these men are indulged in withholding the county funds from the treasury; but not from private gain and speculation.

This system of collecting the taxes should be changed and if it requires an Act of the Legislature to ensure it and make it the duty of the County Treasurer to collect them, let the people have an Act passed for that purpose.

But the people's desires are not often consulted by Court House Rings and politicians who run the machine in this county. The new system would make one office less in each township. There would be one place less to be filled and consequently the drillsergeants—hungry fellows would become noisy and cry out against the inovation Great is the goddess Diana.

It is lamentable that this unmitigated nuisance—useless expence and peculation should longer be saddled upon the people when so easy a correction is at hand—by obtaining an Act, placing the collection in the hands of the Treasurer. Have not the Commissioners adopted this very plan in holding their appeals on assessments? Have they not given notice to the people through the public press when and where they will meet the people of each township, to hear them on their assessments? Then why not make it the duty of the County Treasurer to give the same kind of notice to the tax-payers of each township and borough, that he will meet them and receive the taxes? The benefits arising from such a method, and the defects of the collector's system, so apparent, that there could be no doubt as to the favor with which it would be received and regarded by the taxpayers. Let us friends, tax-payers of Centre, without regard to politics or party, unite to have this new system extended to Centre county.

THE HAPPY FAMILY.

"Like a ball that bounds
According to the force with which 'twas thrown,
So in affliction's violence, he that's wise,
The more he's cast down, will the higher rise."

This is the principle upon which Hon. P. G. Meek acts. The poet was right and Gray Meek knows it. The poet studied human nature, and labored to place his knowledge into poetry or verse. The poet was right. Is P. G. Meek right? Will the people of Centre county send him back again to the Legislature? Meek has been there three years; but he has had an interregnum of one year. He was re-elected last fall which would entitle him to a re-election, upon the grounds that this is his second term and not a continuation of the first. Meek was out one year. His re-election last fall was the first year of his second term. Of course he is entitled to another term according to the Democratic custom—which always returns a man after his first year. If this be true Hon. P. G. Meek is entitled to a re-election; but how do the honest Democrats of Centre look at this question? We do not, of course, ask you to endorse our notions. But we think we understand Democracy a little better than the Democrats do themselves. Upon this, however, we will raise no question. Meek claims that he has experience—that he is persecuted—that he is cast down—that the whole party is engaged in crushing him out. He says that he has been most outrageously treated. That Fred. Kurtz and Phil D. Stover are both jealous of him and want him squealched out; but then the poet comes to his relief, and Meek exclaims:

"So in affliction's violence, he that's wise,
The more he's cast down, will the higher rise."

Meek we opine will have a nice time in getting the nomination. He has a "great deal of experience" he "is well fitted" according to his own showing for the position. He has been according to the reports of the Watchman very faithful. He has tried to legislate for the lumbermen, he has labored to repeal the Library law, and upon this question published letters—private letters no person can tell how they come into his hands. All this shows how sharp Meek is, and also shows what benefits are derived from having a man in the Legislature of "great wisdom and experience."

It may be possible that Jacob Meyers, who was cheated out of his second year last fall will not see this as we see it. It may be possible that Capt. Hunter, Dr. Hillibish, Fred. Kurtz, Chester Munson, Dr. Smith, Dr. Neff, John H. Orvis, Esq., and other Democratic aspirants may not see this as we see it; but we cannot withhold, or hide, our antipathy to Meek. If the Democrats must carry this county why should their nominee be Meek all the time? Has he more brains than Orvis, Kurtz, Smith, Hillibish, Hunter or Munsen? We think he has, if they submit to this kind of game. If Meek, little as we think of him, can beat all these men and go back to Harrisburg next winter, we say let him go; but God pity the Republicans of the county. Is their no Democrat in Centre county that can beat Meek? Is Orvis a candidate? We will prefer Orvis or any other man to Meek. Must we be humiliated—disgraced by having Meek another session in Harrisburg? We ask the people—we ask the lawyers, we ask everybody, shall Meek go back? Shall Meek and Jim Burns rule this county forever? Shall the Court House Ring and its defaulting Collectors command the tax-payers of Centre for all time to come, and pull the wool over the workingmen's eyes by crying out, Nigger! Nigger!! We hope Meek will be defeated. Give us Orvis, Smith Hunter, Munsen, anybody in preference to Meek. But give us a good and true Republican in preference to any of them. Republicans stand by your guns.

DEMOCRATIC TACTICS.

Between the two great parties of the country a wide difference exists in the respective tactics adopted in conducting the political campaign. While Republicans resort to full and candid discussion of principles and measures, relying on the good sense and intelligence of the masses, the Democrats, almost without exception, make their attack on individuals; and by singling out the leaders of our party, or those who they fancy will yield the most effective influence; they endeavor to destroy that influence by damaging personal charges and assault—well knowing that personal odium casts its black shadow over every measure which an unpopular champion may advocate. Thus we have seen the Democracy, ever since the present administration was organized, flinging its abuses broadcast upon the President. Thus we have seen them attack one after the other of the Members of the Cabinet, and when no charge could be trumped up for the occasion, they have filled the public press, and the country, with predictions of speedy changes in the "personnel" of the Executive council, thus seeking to disaffect the nation toward its rulers, and darkly to point at grave errors or divisions in our ranks.

It is much to be regretted that many Republican journals, not noticing the source of these rumors, or divining their import and purpose, inadvertently copy and give them a place in their columns, whence others deeming them authoritative, again extract them, and they thus float over the entire country, breeding mischief and disaffection before the counter Statement can overtake and set them at rest. Thus, too apparent dissensions in our ranks, like the late Sumner affair, are seized upon, exaggerated, one side or the other inordinately praised, and the opposite, soundly berated, not from good will to either, but solely to widen the breach, and by the same old tactics of gross and persistent personalities to drag down the reputation of our statesmen, and thus, by convincing the people of personal incompetency, or perhaps corruption, bringing into contempt both the individual and the party he represents.

How careful then out our statesmen to be, that they give no cause for such aspersions. The Republican press can do no more effective service than by exposing and exploding these disgraceful tactics and tricks of the opposition whenever and wherever they may be resorted to in the pending campaign now opening before us.

THE Boston Advertiser says: "We congratulate our Democratic friends on their new light. It will be good for them. They have been on the wrong side of every question of national importance for two generations, and on the losing side for the greater part of that time.—Their party has been kept together partly by traditions for which the older members have a strong affection, and partly by the mistakes of the party in power. But for many years it has had no positive and affirmative character of its own. It needs that now more than anything else, but has not the slightest idea where to look for it."

THE DEMOCRATIC ADDRESS.

This famous document issued under the signature and authority of fourteen Senators and ninety-seven members of Congress, contains the following remarkable passage:

"If the career of these conspirators be not checked, the downfall of free government is inevitable, and with it the elevation of a military Dictator on the ruins of the Republic."

The term "conspirators" is not unfamiliar to the people of this country.—They have some knowledge of those, who are, in fact, entitled to this distinguished appellation. Let us see if we can determine the party to which the term "conspirator" will appropriately apply. It may, without fear of contradiction, be said, that the men who robbed the treasury of the United States of its funds, stole the public property of the nation, plundered its arsenals, ruined its credit, fired on the flag of their country, drove the commerce of the nation from the ocean, and last, though not least, by treachery and perjury turned the national artillery upon the Capital it had been organized to protect, and in all possible ways sought the destruction of the Government, and the Union of the country, are the men justly entitled to be ranked as the "conspirators" named in the Democratic address. To what party do these "conspirators" belong? The answer is obvious; to the Democratic party. Every one of them are Democrats. In all the vast number of traitors, who, for four long years, endeavored by means and measures of which his satanic majesty would be ashamed, to destroy the rights and liberties of man, not one can be found, who is not a Democrat and an earnest supporter of the Democratic party. With equal propriety might the inmates of our State prison charge the jurors, judge, and executioners of the law, "conspirators." Such a charge from these prison culprits would come with as much grace as does this charge from the Democratic Senators and Members of Congress, against the Republican party.

We are happy to agree with the address, that these "conspirators" should be checked—we mean Democratic "conspirators"; we are gratified to know that the Democracy have assumed a new and more appropriate name, that of "Ku Klux"—while the name is new, their custom is also new.

The Democracy have led the rank and file of the new order to believe, that their dress parade is fashioned after that room in the regions where the air is hot and sulphurous. Dressed in their new garb, these Democratic "conspirators" make nightly visitations into quiet neighborhoods, whipping and murdering defenceless men and women, for no crime save that they are members of the Republican party. We agree with the address, that unless these Democratic Ku Klux "conspirators" are suppressed by the military power of the nation "the downfall of free government is inevitable."

But these fourteen Senators and ninety-seven Congressmen, are afraid of a "Dictator." We think they need give themselves no uneasiness on this point. No "Dictator" we feel confident will stand "on the ruins of the Republic" at any time within the next century; for the reason that the Democratic party, with its Democratic Jefferson Davis, has been so completely squelched, that it will not be possible to galvanize its worthless carcass into a respectable kick; though we will not say it may not be able, through the use of a reasonable amount of Democratic "Rot Gut," to start a midnight howl, or noon-day yell. The address fears a "Dictator." This was precisely what all Democrats feared during their efforts to destroy the Government, which many of them had sworn to protect. They wanted to be let alone. This is also the watchword of the Ku Klux Democracy all over the South. They want to be let alone, and feel indignant that the Government will not stand idly by and permit their deadly work without an effort to stop it. No party in this wonderful world ever feared a "Dictator" so much as the Democratic party of the United States, for the reason that none has ever yet been discovered in profane history, that so richly and justly deserved one.

The Democratic party do not say Grant, when they use the term "Dictator," but they mean him; and well they may. He was their "Dictator" on many a hard fought battle field, and pounded with shot and shell, their perjury and treason into submission to law and order. No wonder the Democratic party regard the President as a "Dictator."—Now, that Congress has given the power, the Ku Klux Democracy fear and tremble. They behold the "Dictator," with the sword in one hand and the halter in the other, and feel a sort of unrest as they contemplate the chances of escape for Democratic brains and breath.

The "Dictator" will soon be in the field with the military power of the Government at his command, and this is what these fourteen Senators and ninety-seven Congressmen mean by the cry of "Dictator." They denounce the law, that confers upon the President the power to act, on the principle that no highwayman,

"Who feels the halter draw,
Has good opinion of the law."

OUR ADVANTAGES AND DISADVANTAGES.

The Republican party is possessed of the tremendous advantages gained from its position as the great loyal party of the nation—at once the defender and the exponent of the principles of the government itself.

When treason lifted its rebellious head, and struck its fangs at the vitals of our Republic, the country looked confidently to our Republican administration and was saved. When the rebels laid down their arms, it was the magnanimity of the Republican party that gave them the privilege of returning in peace and safety to their homes.

When they again attempted by the perfidy of Andrew Johnson to gain control of the government, it was the Republican party that wrested the newly grasped weapons of rebellion fron their hands. And when once more the peace of the country was secured, the same party placed at the head of the nation, the chieftan who had won victory for the loyal people from the terrible fields of bloodshed and civil war.

But we now find that certain disadvantages attach to our position, and it becomes us to look well to our organization lest we lose the fruits of our triumphs, and permit the enemy to gain strength through our own want of vigilance. The chief of these disadvantages is the fact that we are not compelled to strive for what we have not, but merely to hold what we already possess. The opposition having nothing to lose, but everything to gain, have only to keep up the attack. With them to divide our party is to succeed for themselves. Hence, they are at liberty to adopt any policy, or to resort to any advantage. If in anything they see a glimpse of discontent with what has been done in Congress, they instantly cry, "Behold the work of a Republican Congress!" If another malcontent complains that Congress has not done some particular thing, they exclaim, "See the inefficiency of a Republican Congress!" And if still a third shall mildly suggest a concert of action upon important measures, they will at once disclaim all responsibility and again exclaim, "Oh we are in a minority and can do nothing whatever. You must look to your Republican friends who have the power to aid you!"

Thus, to a minority all things being capital; and it is only by really having something substantial to show—some real, conclusive results—some practical, permanent attainments of Republican administration to present, that we can meet this storm of opposition, and, from the defensive, boldly step forward to an offensive position. This, happily, is within our power. Our complete vindication of the doctrine of equal rights; our successful financial policy; our firmly established national credit; our favorable situation and relations with respect to foreign powers; our prospective anticipations of an amicable adjustment of the Alabama and other claims; our prosperity as a people—the only drawback being troubles from Democratic violence in the South—all these we may claim as pre-eminent proofs of Republican fidelity and success in the management of government affairs.

HEALTH GIVING WINE.—Some time since Mr. A. Speer of Passaic, N. J., presented us with a bottle of his Port Grape Wine. In our turn, we presented it to a friend who was in feeble health. After giving the wine a few trials, our friend assures us he derived marked benefits from its use. We find that many invalids in this city are using Speer's Port Grape Wine with the same beneficial results. Druggists keep it.—Ex.

WAIL OF THE DEMOCRACY.

From all parts of the country comes up the wail of the Democracy over the law passed at the last session of Congress, for the enforcement of law and order in the South. We cannot take up a Democratic paper that is not teeming with bitter denunciations against this measure. And we are not at all surprised, either, for the Ku Klux bill strikes directly at the very vitals of modern democracy. The Democratic masked fiends of the South, clad in the garb of their master, and incited by his infernal spirit to deeds that would blacken the wall of perdition—now that they find the power of the Government ready to deal with them as they richly deserve—tremble for the success of their well laid plans to accomplish by the dagger, the fagot and the lash, what they could not do by the peaceable and manly use of the ballot. Before action was taken by Congress in the matter, the Democratic leaders of the North quietly looked on and smiled complacently at the work of shame and blood. They even affected not to see it, and stoutly denied the existence of any such organization as the Ku Klux Klan. But when the veil was lifted and the light of official investigation exposed the fearful situation they sought, and still seek, to palliate the crimes of their Southern brethren in every possible way known to willing accomplices.

With characteristic audacity they seize upon instances of individual crime occurring in peaceful communities, and hold them up in unfair comparison, in the attempt to divert attention from the hideous picture of midnight barbarities which stands out in bold relief to condemn them in the eyes of the civilized world. They even appeal to the "inalienable birthright of freedom." Words heretofore unknown in their political vocabulary—to excite sympathy among those who may still be slow to believe in total democratic depravity. Words that grated harshly on Democratic ears when they had the reins of power and sent the blood-hounds of slavery in every direction on errands that caused the blush of shame to mantle the cheek of every honest American citizen. Is the Democratic fugitive slave law, with its attendant Democratic outrages on freemen, so soon forgotten? Perhaps our readers may still remember the case of the colored waiter in a Boston eating-house, who was suddenly arrested as a fugitive slave and dragged to the court room for trial. During the proceedings a few of his colored friends quietly entered the room and without violence adroitly managed to hurry him out into the street and secrete him from his pursuers. The Southern heart was at once "fired" with indignation, and President Fillmore issued his proclamation calling on all well disposed citizens to support the laws of the country, and commanding all civil and military officers who should be found in the vicinity of "the outrage" to aid and assist by all means in their power "in quelling this and all such other combinations," to assist the marshal and deputies in recapturing the fugitive, and ordering the arrest and prosecution of all who made themselves "aiders and abettors in this flagitious attempt, &c."

This was all right and justifiable then, in the eyes of the Democracy, because it was done in the interest of their Southern political masters. But now, when these same Southern Democrats engage in the lawless amusement of shooting, hanging, whipping and driving out, law-abiding citizens on account of their political sentiments, these Democratic friends in the North raise the old howl of "let them alone." And when it is found to be necessary to bring the powers of the Government to bear for the restoration of law and order, and the protection of loyal citizens, the aiders and abettors of treason, and the apologists of Democratic lawlessness, raise the cry of "military despotism" and invoke the sacred name of Freedom in these polical outrages.

What is to be expected of a party—had they the power—whose leaders are bold enough to advocate the policy of turning over the rights of loyal citizens to the tender mercies of political assassins, rather than to the protection of the law?

THE Alabama State Journal says: "Let every Republican in the State ask himself these questions: Am I of any benefit to the Republican party; or, am I a tax and dead weight upon it? If the latter, how long will I be tolerated and allowed to occupy an official position in the party without doing any good to the party in return?"

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN.

BELLEFONTE, PA.

THE MULE THAT STOOD ON A STEAM-BOAT DECK.

The mule stood on a steamboat deck,
The land he would not tread,
They pulled the halter round his neck,
And cracked him o'er the head.

Yet firm and steadfast there he stood
As though formed for to rule;
A critter of heroic blood
Was that there cussed mule.

They cussed and swore—he would not go
Until he felt inclined;
And though they showered blow on blow,
He wouldn't change his mind.

The deck hands to the shore then cried,
"This here mule's bound to stay,"
And still upon the critter's hide,
With lash they fired away.

His master from the shore then cried,
"The boat's about to sail,
And every other means yon've tried,
Suppose you twist its tail!"

"It's likely that will make him land,"
The deck hand brave, though pale,
Approached him with his outstretched hand,
To twist that there mule's tail.

There came a sudden kick behind!
That man—oh! where was he?
Ask of the softly blowing wind,
The fishes in the sea.

For a moment there was not a sound,
As that mule winked his eye,
As though to ask of those around,
"Now, how is that for high?"

"Cut that there mule's throat, right away,"
The captain did command,
But the noblest critter killed that day
Was the fearless, brave deck-hand.

WHY HE MARRIED.

"And don,t you know when you will pass through this part of the country again, Mr. Verley?"

"No, I don't," said the old bachelor decidedly.

He was something of a bear to answer so crustily when Barbara Smith stood in the doorway, with the shadowy lashes dropping over her soft brown eyes, and the roses melting into deep carmine on her rosy cheeks, until her muslin dress was pale in comparison. Such a pretty, big-eyed, loving little Barbara [as she was, in all the blooming freshness of her eighteen summers, and the soft sigh that fluttered up from her lips as the one-horse carriage drove away, and was checked instantly. Barbara had no idea of becoming a victim to unrequited love, though she had rather fancied Mr. Verley during his brief sorjourn at her father's house.

Mr. Verley drove away through the rustling green draperies of the summer lanes, whistling sadly as he went.

"I shall be in very good time for the 12:30 train," he meditated to himself. "Punctuality is the soul of business, and I never was one of the behind-hand tribe, thank Providence. Besides, I think it was becoming rather dangerous to remain at that place any longer. I am thirty-nine to-morrow, and that's just twenty years too old for me to go making a fool of myself. Fancy me getting married! No, you don't, Joseph Verley, my friend."

As he settled himself comfortably in the crowded railroad car, and opened a letter, the subject again occured to his mind with curious persistence.

"The letter of my poor brother's executor came just in time, or I should certainly have lounged away more than would have been either sensible or profitable. Poor, dear Harold; I don't see what on earth possessed him to fall sick and die on his way home from Venice, and leave his daughter on my hands, too. Why couldn't he have left a son instead of a daughter? I never did understand a woman's ways and what's more, I don't mean to. I am to meet her at Speedville, and take her home with me. O!" groaned Mr. Varley, referring dispairingly to the letter. "And what am I going to do with her when I get her there, I'd like to know? I suppose she's a great tall creature, with ringlets and ribbons and, just as likely as not, an Italian lover chatting sentiment to her—a creature that reads Byron, and keeps an album and eats slate-pencils and chalk. I'll send her to a boarding school—that's what I'll do with my niece—and perhaps when she has graduated there, the schoolmaster can suggest some means of getting rid of her. Of course she'll have half-a-dozen huge trunks, and a bonnet box and a parrot cage—that's the way women generally travel, I believe. I am glad I am out of the way of Barbara's fascinations now."

Mr. Verley looked out of the car window in a sort of calm desperation at the prospect that was before him.

"I suppose she'll want a piano, and maybe a poodle dog—and there's no knowing what else. I don't see why Harold wanted to die and leave his daughter to my care, just now, Speedville Station—twenty-seven miles further on—I wish it was twenty-seven hundred—that's what I wish."

And with this vindictive sentiment in his mind, our hero tied a red silk handkerchief over his head, and tried to lose himself in a series of brief troubled dreams, wherein the vision of a tall, nice young lady figured conspicuously.

"Are we here already?" he stammered, starting to his feet, as the conductor bawled out "Speedville Station!" He seized umbrella, valise and traveling shawl, with the bustling bewilderment peculiar to people suddenly aroused from sleep.

Speedville was rather a large sized village, situated at the junction of several railways—a bustling, thriving little place, with an imposing American Gothic structure as a depot. Into this building Mr. Verley walked, looking right and left for the young lady whose guardienship he was to assume.

"Of course," he reasoned mentally, "she'll be on the lookout for me; women are proverbially curious."

But Harold Verley's daughter was not on the "lookout" for her unknown uncle. When the crowd incident to the evening train had subsided, and people had gone their several ways, the only remaining occupants of the depot were Mr. Verley, a lame old man who sold peanuts and oranges, and a decent-looking colored woman, with a brilliant Madras turban on her head who took care of the building.

Neither of these could be his niece, so Mr. Verley, after a little perplexed hesitation, addressed himself to the colored woman, who was busy polishing the window with a piece crumpled newspaper.

"Ahem—I was to meet my neice here to-day, and—I don't see her."

"Your neice, sir? what is her name?"

"Verley."

"O, yes, sir; she has been here these two hours, bless her dear heart; she's asleep now."

"Asleep!" gasped Mr. Verley; but the stewardess only answered him by bustling into the inner appartment and bringing out what appeared to be a compact bundle. with a pink face at one end of it, and a mass of long, trailing embroideries at the other.

Joseph Verley recoiled as far as the angle of the wall would permit him.

"Why it's a baby!"

"To be sure it is sir," said the woman, "and as fine a little girl as I ever saw; bless her sweet blue eyes."

"But isn't there a nurse or some such person here who could take charge of her?"

"There was a nurse brought her on sir—a queer, foreign looking thing, with a yellow skin and hair as black as night, and big gold hoops in her ears; but she talked something about the next steamer—I couldn't understand her lingo, sir—and went right back to New York on the two o'clock train."

Joseph Verley stood aghast, staring at the rosy baby as it lay crowing in the woman's arms, and wondering which of his lucky stars he should call on to aid him in this unlooked-for emergency. A full-grown young lady niece would have been bad enough—but a baby!

"So this is my niece," he muttered. "And what the d—l am I going to do with her?"

He turned suddenly to the colored woman.

"What time does the next train for Winfield leave?"

"In an hour, sir."

"Would you be kind enough to take care of the child till then? I suppose I must take it home with me; for I can't very well drown it, or throw it under the car wheels."

"Sir!" ejaculated the astonished stewardess.

But Mr. Veerley turned on his heel and strode out of the depot, scarcely able at first to comprehend the disaster that had befallen him.

The train was at the depot when he returned; and the woman awaited him with the sleeping infant in her arms.

"Asleep, eh!" commented Mr. Veerley. "Well that's lucky."

"Where's the nurse, sir?" inquired the woman.

"Nurse! What nurse?"

"Why, I supposed you went to get a nurse."

"Never once thought of it!" ejaculated Joseph, madly smiting his forehead. "Here—give the thing to me quick, the train is moving."

He had scarcely time to spring on board as the locomotive gave an unearthly shriek, while the baby followed suit in both respects.

He staggered to his seat, holding the umbrella and child in one hand, while in the other his valise swung backward and forward.

"There! there! bless its little heart!" he exclaimed, imitating the colored woman. "We won't cry—no we won't."

But the baby evidently had an opinion of its own on the subject, and would cry in spite of the various blandishments practiced by the bewildered uncle—such as shaking the umbrella handle, swinging his watch, and trotting both knees.

People began to look around reproachfully, young men shrugged their shoulders, and young ladies giggled.

"Hush. hush! there's a darling," whispered Mr. Verley.

But still the baby wept, and wailed and gnashed his gums, for teeth it had but two. Mr. Verley began to look round in the car in search of some matronly dame, of whom he could seek counsel, but in vain. There were only three ladies in the car, and they were young, with round hats and dimpled cheeks.

"They won't know anything about it," groaned Mr. Verley, in anguish of spirit. "O, why didn't I have common sense enough to go and get a nurse. I suppose there's no danger of a baby bursting its lungs; but I should think if there was such a contingency, this baby was in a fair way of meeting it. Well, roar away, my young friend; I can stand it as long as you can."

Vain boast, as futile as vain, as Mr. Verley very soon discovered. The baby not only cried, but it screamed, it kicked, it doubled itself over in more ways than a contortionist's wildest dreams could imagine, and become apparently frantic with passion. The prespiration broke out in huge beads on Joseph's brow; his face flushed, and still the cars thundered on.

"What's to become of me?" he pondered, holding desperately on to the struggling infant by the sash that encircled its little waist, and watching its purple face with a species of detestation. "I don't wonder that Harold died! I shall die in a week, if this thing goes on. And it seems so easy for Barbara Smith to take care of her little brothers and sisters. If Barbara was only here!"

And Mr. Verley jerked the baby up into a sitting posture with a sudden jerk.

"I'll do it," quoth Mr. Verley. "I'll take the back express at four in the morning and go straight there. Ah, you may stop crying, you little hypocrite; but it won't do any good; I'm not to be caught twice in the same trap."

Barbara Smith was watering her tube roses, in the bright morning sunshine, as Mr. Verley drove up to the gate, with the valise and baby in the carriage.

Dear me, Mr. Verley!" she ejaculated, blushing "celestial rosy red." "Why, what a sweet little baby."

"Yes; very sweet," he responded dryly. "It is my neice that I was to meet at Speedville."

"Why, I thought she was a young lady?"

"So did I; but it seems she's not. Barbara what do you suppose brought me back?" he added speaking very fast for fear the baby would cry.

"I don't know," faltered Barbara, crimsoning still more. "Perhaps you forgot something."

"Yes, I did."

"What was it?" said Barbara, a little disappointed.

"I forgot to ask you if you would marry me?"

"Dear me! was that all?" said the young lady demurely.

"Isn't that enough? Say, Barbara, will you?"

I'll think of it," answered Barbara evasively.

"No; but tell me now. Quick! the baby's waking up."

"Well, then—yes."

Barbara had taken the little thing in her arms, and disappeared before it had time to utter its waking wail.

A week afterwards Mr. Joseph Verley took the 12:30 return, with his wife and neice, the happiest of reclaimed old bachelors, and it was all the unconscious baby's work.

Faithfulness To Employers.

There is no greater mistake a young man can commit, than that of being indifferent to the interest of his employer. It must be admitted that there are circumstances under which it would seem to be almost impossible to feel an interest in an employer's business; but for all that, it is worth a trial. Be faithful in small things, be attentive to your duties, shirk no employment that is not dishonorable, feel that your employer is fairly entitled to every minute of the time which you have agreed to give him for a stipulated remuneration. The wages may be small—too small—but if you have contracted to work for a dollar a week, when your work is worth ten, stick to your bargain like a man until your term of service has expired. It may seem very hard, but it will instil the great principle of being true to your word. Such faithfulness will not fail to impress an employer favorably, and when that point is reached your reward is almost certain to follow, for the master who finds that he has an apprentice who is honest and capable, will not readily dispense with his services. The misfortune with too many boys is, that their ambition is not to try how well they can perform a work assigned them, and how much of it they can do, but to do no more and no better than the pay they are to receive for it will justify. It is wrong, also, on the part of an employer to withhold a fair equivalent for service rendered. In such a system there is generally poor work as well as poor pay. We have found, as the result of many years of practical experience, that the best paid employees are those whose labor is most profitable to their employers and this fact can be demonstrated in a dozen establishments within five minutes walk of our office. On the other hand, the employer who tries to secure the largest amount of good work from poorly paid hands, generally fails of his object. The true method is for the young man to have ambition enough to make himself a competent workman, and then to prove his ability by the quantity and quality of the work he turns out. This done, there is little reason to apprehend that he will not receive a fair compensation for his services.

STRONG drink is a turncoat; first a friend, then an enemy.

Early Impressions.

We once read in an old "Journal of Education" a series of articles well worthy of regard by all who have the care of the young, but principally of mothers; since it is they who are the special agents in the formation of the habits and character of their offspring. We give a faithful transcript of the ideas, though the language may not convey them as elegantly as in the original.

The object of Education is to form the character, not by means of regular stated lessons, but principally through the influence of example and surroundings.

From the moment the infant opens its eyes, and feels the pressure to its mother's bosom; from the hour it becomes capable of noticing objects around it, for instance; the light, bright colors, or whatever is passing before its vision, the child is exposed to right or wrong influence. So powerful and gradual are the influences of these early months, though unnoticed by the parent, that at ten months, if humored and indulged, the infant will have become a petty tyrant, and in two or three years a thing so selfish, discontented and irratable that everybody but the fond mother turns from it in disgust. During infancy and the early period of childhood every human being is making his or her first observations, and acquiring his or her first experience, forming habits that become ingrained into his or her character for life. Right or wrong notions, according to surroundings and influence, will take such firm holds and good or bad impressions, depending upon circumstances, sink so deep as to be with difficulty eradicated—perhaps too strong for any after force that may be brought to bear against them to effect. There is no doubt that much of that creekedness of disposition attributed to Nature would be found, if properly traced, to have originated in the early circumstances of life, in the first influences and impressions; just as a crooked, stunted, unsightly plant is so, not from any natural defect in the seed from which it sprung, but from the circumstances of the soil and situation where it grew, the influence of light and shade, the degrees of heat and cold to which it was exposed. At the root of all good influence is example. Whenever the home atmosphere is clouded by the elements of discord, arising from ungoverned passions or wrong tempers of the parents, or any older members of the family household, it is impossible that the dispositions of the children should be kept in a healthy state; or if the heads of the family are adicted to melancholy or reserve, can the young branches be said to breathe a wholesome air? "Boys make men," and the man will not easily forget the character of the influence brought to bear on his boyhood's home. Then, too, when childhood has passed, and, as young men and women, the children find themselves not quite so good perhaps as they themselves could wish to be, they not unfrequently reflect upon the training they received; and a feeling of bitterness will creep into the most affectionate heart against those who, by wrong management, married what by nature was perhaps a lovely character or by a total want of control allowed passions to gain the mastery, and smother the good that by proper training might have been cultivated and developed.

The importance of making just impressions on the young mind first is very great, and such impressions depend upon the mother. It has often been said that no man, however depraved or vicious, need be wholly despaired of with whom his mother's influence still lingers on the side of virtue. It is his last preserving link; and as it operated sweetly when life was new and experience unsullied by lasting stains, so in the hour of strong temptations it often operates with a potency peculiarly its own. It is the early impressions she makes on the character of her child that determines the character of her influence over the man.

A SORROWFUL LIFE.—A San Francisco correspondent, noting the arrival of Lady Franklin, writes: "By the last Panama boat there arrived a lady whose life is the centre of a century's tragedy—a lady whose constancy and devotion will be the theme of future homes, and far eclipse the fame of the fabled Penelope. A cruel rumor, started months ago by a city paper, that a waif had drifted ashore near San Diego, containing some memento of the Arctic heroes, reached her at Rio Janeiro, and she hastens to San Francisco; distance, fatigue, age, all forgotten, in the wild hope that the sea may have revealed one of its sorrowful secrets. Poor lady! Eighty years old; twenty years dero'ate; still clinging with a heartsick longing with the idea that earth or ocean will yet tell the mystery of the past."

CHILDREN'S INNOCENCE.—A boy and a girl, the sum of whose ages did not exceed twelve years, were asked by their mother what they had seen in the menagerie, in which they had especially observed the mule, when her son replied in an innocent manner: "Oh, ma, I seen a jackass, so big—as big as uncle!" To which the girl replied, in a still more innocent tone: "Ah, now, ma, isn't Charlie telling stories? For there couldn't be such a big jackass."

The Bloom of Age.

A good woman never grows old. Years may pass over her head, but if benevolence and virtue dwell in her heart, she is as cheerful as when the spring of life first opened to her view. When we look upon a good woman we never think of her age; she looks as charming as when the rose of youth first bloomed in her cheek. That rose has not faded yet; it will never fade. In her neighborhood, she is the friend and benefactor. In the church, the devout worshiper and exemplary Christain. Who does not respect and love the woman who has passed her days in acts of mercy and kindness—who has been the friend of man and God—whose life has been a scene of kindness and love, a devotion to truth and religion? We repeat such a woman cannot grow old. She will always be fresh and buoyant in spirits, and active in humble deeds of mercy and benevolence. If the young lady desires to retain the bloom and beauty of youth; let her not yield to the sway of fashion and folly; let her love truth and virtue; and to the close of life she will retain those feelings which now make life appear a garden of sweets—ever fresh and ever new.

NEARING THE OTHER SHORE.—When after the weary voyage that I first made across the ocean, sick and loathsome, I arose one morning and went upon the deck, holding on, crawling, thinking I was but a worm, I smelt in the air a strange smell, and I said to the captain: "What is that odor?" "It is the land breeze from off Ireland." I smelt the turf, I smelt the grass, I smelt the leaves and all my sickness departed from me; my eyes grew bright, my nausea was gone. The thought of the nearness of land came to me. And when afar off, I saw the dim line of land, joy came and gave me health, and from that moment I had neither sickness nor trouble; I was coming near to the land. Oh! is there not for you, old man, and for you, wearied mother, a land breeze blowing off from Heaven, wafting you to some of its sweetness?

TRUTH IN BRIEF.—Anybody can soil the reputation of an individual, however pure and chaste, by uttering a suspicion that his enemies will believe and his friends never hear of. A puff of the idle wind can take a million of the seeds of a thistle, and do a work of mischief which the husband-man must labor long to undo, the floating particles being too fine to be seen and too light to be stopped. Such are the seeds of slander, so easily sown, so difficult to be gathered up, and yet so pernicious in their fruits. The slanderer knows that many a mind will catch up the plague and become poisoned by his insinuations, without ever seeking the antidote. No reputation can refute a sneer, nor any human skill prevent mischief.

INFLUENCE OF TEMPER ON THE VOICE.—The influence of temper upon tone deserves much consideration. Habits of quarulousness, or ill nature, will communicate a cat-like quality to the singing, as infallibly as they give a quality to the speaking voice. That there really exists amiable tones is not an unfounded opinion. In the voice there is no deception; it is, to many, the index of the mind, denoting moral qualities; and it may be remarked, that the low, soft, tones of gentle and amiable beings, whatever their musical endowments may be, seldom fail to please; besides which, the singing of ladies indicates the cultivation of their tastes generally, and the embellishment of the mind.

AT one of the stations on a certain railway recently, an anxious inquirer came to the door of the baggage car and said: "Is there anything for me?" After some search among boxes and trunks, the baggage man rolled out a keg of whiskey.—"Anything more?" asked the wet grocer. "Yes," said the baggage man, "there's a grave stone that goes with the liquor." The countenance of the wet grocer assumed a wrathy appearance, and the car door was shut with a slam.

FORTUNE.—Fortune has the same power over princes that it has over empires—over nations that it has over private men. Where's that estate that may not be followed upon the heel with famine and beggary? That dignity which the next moment may not be laid in the dust? That kingdom that is secure from desolation and ruin?

BE TRUE TO YOURSELF.—If a man will only start with a fixed and honorable purpose in life, and strictly and persistently attempt to carry it out to the best of his ability, undismayed by failure or delay, the time may be long in coming, but come it will, when that purpose will be achieved.

AT the last meeting of the old Council of Leavenworth, it is reported that one of the sage city fathers arose and delivered himself thus: "Mr. Mayor and gentlemen of the Council, let us lay our heads together and make a wooden pavement."

SHIFTLESS Christians are like shiftless farmers, they leave fences and bars down all over their fields, and then worry and fret their lives away chasing temptations out of the crops.

IT is much easier to think right without doing right, than to do right without thinking right. Just thoughts may, and often do, fail of producing just deeds; but just deeds are sure to beget just thoughts.

WHY is the sun like good bread? Because its light when it rises.

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

FOR AUDITOR GENERAL,

DAVID STANTON,

OF BEAVER COUNTY.

FOR SURNEYOR GENERAL,

ROBERT B. BEATH,

OF SCHUYLKILL COUNTY.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY THE WORKINGMAN'S FRIEND.

NOTE.—[It is proposed in several numbers to take up and discuss the entire labor question: how far it bears upon general politics; and the position of the Republican party.]

INTRODUCTORY—THE OBJECT OF THE POLITICAL PARTIES.

No. 1.

In a Republican Government, political parties are essential State machinery, without which there would be political stagnation; but while we recognize this fact, we must also remember that parties are only means, not ends. They are instruments solely for the enforcement of principles, ideas, and policies for the benefit of the entire nation; and as it is an axiom that truth alone is immortal, ever triumphant, and conquering error; only that a political party which adapts itself to the progressive spirit of the age, and seeks the promotion of the permanent and universal welfare of the people, will be enduring, and honored with their confidence and support. And whenever any party ceases to be in harmony with the reformatory and progressive tendency of the times, it ceases to be the representative of the majority, which alone centers upon it efficacy and governing power.

THE VITAL ADVANTAGE OF FREE GOVERNMENT.

The benefits and blessings of a Republican government, which guarantees to every citizen an equal voice in the management of affairs, consist not chiefly in the fact that the Republic gives greater security to life and property than the Monarchy; that it is more economical; that its civil service is of greater efficiency, or that it commits fewer errors of public policy. The chief value of a Republic consists in the immense spiritual distance and personal capability of a self-governing citizen and a governed subject. The consciousness of power, and consequent self-respect, the practical acceptation of the fact that every man, no matter what his circumstances in life or his vocation, is equally a ruler and part of the governing power, and that government is not above, but of him, are the chief advantages which a republican State presents. It is in these energizing and beneficent influences upon the growth of personal character, wherein is manifested the infinite superiority of republican over monarchical institutions, before which all minor considerations of relative economy and efficiency dwindle into insignificance.

GOOD GOVERNMENT ESSENTIAL TO HUMAN HAPPINESS.

Twenty-two centuries ago, Solon, the great law-giver, of the Athenians, and the wisest man of his age, in discribing the happiest man whom he ever knew, placed foremost as the first essential condition of that happiness, that he "lived in Greece, a well ordered State."

The air we breathe; the water we drink, and the genial sunshine that bathes us, are not the less essential or vital to life because they are so abundant that we take no notice, and even neglect to thank a beneficent Providence which has so fully adapted them to our needs. And in this great republic, security of life and property, an untrammelled press, a free religion, freedom to change one's occupation and to aspire to any office within the gift of the people, are principles of so universal recognition, that we do not fully appreciate these essential and vital conditions to a happy and well developed life; nor are we sufficiently grateful and attached to our government which alone guarantees them. We should never forget that this is the only great and well-ordered republican State in the world; that everywhere else we have either despotisms, absolute or qualified, or nominal republics tempered with anarchy and civil wars.

THE DUTIES WE OWE TO THE GOVERNMENT.

To ensure the permanency of this magnificent and inestimable inheritance, we owe it more than our vote and pecuniary support; we owe it our highest thought, constant vigilance, and zealous co-operation. Not only in time of war has the government a right to command our lives and fortunes, but in time of peace it has the right to demand our most profound thought and watchful care.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY MAINLY COMPOSED OF WORKINGMEN.

The great majority of the people of the United States, who are toilers with brain and hand, are particularly interested in the maintainence of our government. The Republican party, under whose leadership the government is now moving, is composed almost exclusively of laboring men; in the North and West; its stronghold is among the farmers and the mechanics of the villages, and in the South its most enthusiastic supporters are the recently emancipated slaves. Thus the separate interests of the workingmen are safe in its keeping; for while we have an abundant number of laborers we have, thank God, no laboring class—no hereditary caste. Men may be engaged either in physical or mental labors, or in any particular branch thereof, during their whole life, but it is entirely voluntary, and many of them change from one to the other as it may to them seem best.

THERE IS NO PERMANENT LABOBING CLASS.

The assumption that there is a laboring class, or inferior caste, having separate and antagonistic interests, which descends from father to son, and from which no one can rise or change is a monarchical idea, imported from abroad and inapplicable to our country. And to prevent the formation of a permanent laboring class, as distinguished from a professional or a capitalist class, ought to be the object of earnest solicitude with every American statesman and thinker.

NO NATURAL ANTAGONISM BETWEEN LABOR AND CAPITAL.

For the purpose of convenient distinction, and not because there exists such an absolute line of demarkation in real life, we may assume that there are three distinct stages of capital in the United States; the capital of physical labor, the capital of mental labor, and the capital of accumulated or capitalized labor. Between these three classes of capitalists there is no natural or necessary antagonism; all of them are interested in the security of life and property, in the enforcement of contracts, in the freedom of making contracts; in the complete liberty of changing vocation and investments, in general education. and the peaceful and economical administration of public affairs. The capitalist of physical labor, has for sale his day's work; the capitalist of mental labor his professional skill, and the capitalist of reserved labor, the accumulation which either he or his ancestors have acquired. Sometimes the one and sometimes the other of these classes receive the highest share of reward. It frequently happens in our Western territories, or in our mining districts, that physical labor is in so great demand that lawyers and doctors engage side by side with ordinary laborers in physical work, because it brings by far the highest reward. At other times the capital represented by physical labor is so abundant, and the reserved and accumulated capital is in such great demand that it receives the lion's share of the reward.

STATEMENT OF THE LABOR PROBLEM.

The main questions which an inquiry into the labor problem suggest, are two fold: First, how can the capitalist of a day's labor, comprising as it does the largest class of our population, receive in exchange the greatest amount of comfort, and the Greatest share of profit. Secondly, how can he rise most easily and speedily to the condition of a capitalist of reserved labor, or a capitalist of skillful mental acquirements.

These questions are of the most vital importance to the progress of the world. They are so profound and interwoven with the fabric of society, that they require the most earnest, conscientious, pains taking,, impartial, and nonpartizan investigation. They cannot be solved by the cheap rhetoric of the political agitator, nor by intuition, nor by the unlettered and untutored suggestions of any class, looking upon them from a partial standpoint. And if the words of counsel which we are about to present to our fellow laborers do not clear away all the difficulties surrounding the subject, we know, at least, that our suggestions are the result, both of earnest thought, and of a sincere desire to level up onr physical laborers without levelling down any other class. Elevate, educate, make moral and free, the basis of society, and not only is the safety of the State ensured, but all other classes will be prosperous and contented.

JEFF DAVIS.

THE EX-PRESIDENT ON A RAMPAGE—EXTRACTS FROM HIS ATLANTA SPEECH.

[Atlanta Correspondence N. Y. Herald.]

TYRANNY AND WRONG.

There are many things which I might say to you to night, my friends, but which I feel it would be imprudent for me to utter. If I should speak to you of the past I should speak of memories that are sad. If I should speak to you of the present it would be to recount a tale of tyranny and wrong that we have not the power to redress, and under which, therefore, it is more manly and nobler for us to fold arms and suffer with quiet and patient dignity. If I speak of the future, then I am liable to be misrepresented, and you held responsible for every speculation that I may chance to utter. But, my friends, as I stand here to-night and look upon your kindly, honest faces, I feel that there are a few plain words that may be received by you as the expression of my opinion in regard to the future. Then, I say, I despair not of your liberty. I despair not of the triumph of liberty. I believe that truth will live eternally, and that wrong cannot always endure,

HE WANTS PEACE.

Peace is what we hope for, peace we desire, and peace we will have. I have nothing to say to you to-night of politics, and, my friends, I hope you have nothing to do with them. You have political power, and its exercise is only postponed until the coming of that event which I certainly anticipate—the restoration of your constitutional rights. [Applause.] Let us, then, stand still and quietly await developments. The men of the North, like yourselves, love their Government and understand their rights; and men of the North have no idea of surrendering in their own country those great bulwarks of constitutional liberty—the right of trial by jury, the right to elect their own officers, and the right to determine their own internal policy. And as soon as their prejudices and hatred against the South are removed, and they see that by the unlawful action of those in power toward the South these sacred rights of theirs are in danger of being invaded, full justice will be done.

HE ACCEPTS NOTHING

I am not of those who "accept the situation." I accept nothing. Those cant phrases that we hear so much of about "accepting the situation" and about our rights having been submitted to the "arbitrament of the sword" are but the excuses of cowards. [Applause.] I admit that power prevails over truth; I admit that that power is so great that it would be folly to resist it, and therefore I am in favor, myself, of being acquiescent, and I advise you to the same course, but I do not admit that our rights have ever been submitted to the arbitrament of the sword. Who has the power to submit your liberties to the arbitrament of battle? You never delegated that power to your representatives. I, as your Executive, never claimed it, and never, dying or living, will I admit it. [Applause.] And then, my friends, about this much-talked-of subject of "accepting the situation." You are not called upon to acknowledge that you have done wrong unless you feel it.

I DON'T BELIEVE I DID ANY WRONG,

and the refore don't acknowledge it. All that a government has a right to claim from any of its subjects is that they will quietly submit to the law. Liberty of law is their inheritance, and submission to the law as long as it is such is their duty and their obligation, and it should be their pride. Now, my friends, having already said more than I had intended, it only remains for me to say how happy I am to see the evidences of prosperity that now surround you. The first time that I saw the place where your city now stands it was little more than a wilderness. When I saw it again I looked upon blackened and deserted ruins, upon the sad wrecks of noble fortunes, upon desolated hearthstones, and upon a ruined and stricken people. Your city has been devastated and laid waste by an act of vandalism darker than aught that ever disgraced the fame of Turenne. But I look upon it again to-day, and the traces of desolation and destruction are no longer visible; but in there stead magnificent structures rise upon every hand to mark the wonderful advance of improvement, prosperity, and material greatness. I rejoice in it. It is but the beginning of the grand era of prosperity that is yet to come, and I rejoice to see you going on building your railroads, establishing your manufactories, inaugurating new enterprises of commercial profit, building up your town, improving your lands and developing the material resources within your reach. You will thus go on increasing until you become wealthy and powerful. I say I rejoice in these evidences of assiduous, earnest labor in things material, because there is little in this that a foreign government can interfere with. Persevere in this direction; wait quietly and patiently until the tide turns—as, sooner or later, turn it will, and the day is not far distant when the sun will shine upon you a free, independent, and sovereign State. [Applause.] With these expressions and with this advice to you I have done. I feel that I cannot fully express my gratitude to you all for the kindness you have manifested towards me, and the heartfelt desire I have that your ways may be ways of pleasantness, that your lives may be prosperous and that your eyes at last may close upon your country free, and your children standing erect, proud representatives of the grand old Commonwealth of Georgia. [Great and prolonged applause.]

Mr. Davis is making a tour of the Southern States, and speaks to excited crowds at every important place. The South is awakening under this inspiration, and the tempest is brewing.

—Ex-President E. O. Haven, late of the University of Michigan, is to be made a bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

—Judge Strange, of Alabama, has decided that the State law requiring lawyers to take out a license is unconstitutional.

—As we expected, the witty New York journals have begun to talk of Fostering crime.

MEEKLY acknowledging our utter inability to cope with our Democratic neighbor in the wonderful figures of rhetoric wherewith it seeks to demonstrate an overwhelming triumph for its party at the ensuing election, we have recourse to the following figures of arithmetic, which will perhaps show that the anticipated victory is by no means to be taken for granted, premising them with the remark that the Republican party of Pennsylvania was never more harmonious and united than at present, and that the condition of national affairs is also calculated to confirm its members in their agreement and faith. The following is the vote and majorities previous to 1870:

In 1860—A. G. Curtin	262,349
H. D. Foster	230,239
Republican majority		32,110
In 1863—Curtin	269,506
Woodward	254,171
Republican majority		15,335
In 1864—Lincoln	296,391
McClellan	276,316
Republican majority		20,075
In 1866—Geary	307,274
Clymer	290,096
Republican majority		17,178
In 1868—Grant	342,280
Seymour	313,382
Republican majority		28,898
In 1869—Geary	290,552
Packer	285,956
Republican majority		4,596

It is true that last fall we lost a number of Congressmen from the Western Districts of the State, but our majority on the average county vote was more than double that which Governor Geary received in 1869, while a general reaction in favor of Republican principles has set in all over the country. It will be seen, therefore, that the probabilities of Pennsylvania reversing her record are exceedingly meagre, and afford, when boiled down, but very slim comfort to our enthusiastic contemporary. But it does well to whistle, nevertheless. We have read that it tends to keep up a man's courage.—Pittsburg Commercial.

FOR WHOM SHOULD NEGROES VOTE?—We have never seen facts, in the nature of argument, more clearly, briefly and concisely stated, than in the following item from the Alabama State Journal. It should travel the entire circuit of the Republican press, for the consideration of both white and colored citizens:

"We hold that the Republican party can ask the support of colored votes on ground so clear, so high and just, that there is no gainsaying them. It has conferred upon them every civil and political right which they enjoy; and the odium under which it rests at the South, has been incurred, in great part, because of the zeal and fidelity with which it has guarded their welfare. The Democracy has no such high ground to stand upon; and its partisans in catering for negro votes, are reduced to the tricks and arts of the demagogue."

Snuff or dust of any kind, and strong, caustic or poisonous solutions aggravate Catarrh and drives it to the lungs. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures Catarrh by its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties. Each package prepares one pint of the Remedy ready for use, and costs only fifty cents. Sold by druggists, or send sixty cents to R. V. Pierce, M. D., 133 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y., and get it by return mail. Look out for counterfeits and worthless imitations by seeing that it has, upon the outside wrapper, Dr. Pierce's private Stamp, issued by the U. S. Government expressly for stamping his medicines and which bear upon it, his portrait, name and address, and the words "U. S. Certificate of Genuineness."

—Signor Napoleon Verger sailed for Europe by the Cuba on Wednesday.

COMPLETION OF THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.

GREAT RUSH TO STERNBERG'S.

Sung to the tune of Yankee Doodle.

The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And now complete connections made,
An enterprising notion.

The mighty work at last is done,
So speedy and brisk, oh!
And now in ten days we can run
From here to San Francisco.

No more we take the ancient route,
The stage, a horrid slow thing;
It banged the passengers about
And wore out all their clothing.

CHORUS, for the end of each verse:

The Great Pacific Railroad laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And we buy clothes from A. STERNBERG,
A most delightful notion.

Through passengers by the Pacific Railroad will call at the store of A. Sternberg, before starting, and provide themselves with a complete outfit of Spring and Summer clothing, the very best assortment of which will always be found at A. Sternberg's Store.

People who travel by other routes, and also peoplewho, instead of travelling by any route at all, prefer to stay at home, can find the most superior and seasonable garments, for every occasion, of every variety, and at the lowest price.

Do not fail to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere; if you do not, we are sure you will be sorry that you did not. Our goods are put down to the lowest figure. We sell whole suits, according to quality.

SOMETHING NEW
UNDER THE SUN.
A New Era In Medicine.

☞ Let the Suffering and Diseased read the following.

☞ Let all who have been given up by Doctors, and spoken of as incurable, read the following.

☞ Let all who can believe facts, and can have faith in evidence, read the following.

Know all men by these presents. That, on this, the Twentieth day of June, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty-six, personally came Joseph Haydrick to me known as such, and being duly sworn deposed as follows: "That he is the sole general agent for the United States and dependencies thereof for preparations or medicines known as Dr. Maggiel's Pills and Salve, and that the following certificates are verbatim copies to the best of his knowledge and belief.

JAMES SMEITRE, Notary Public,
[L. S.] 14 Wall St. New York.

June 1st, 1866.

DR. MAGGIEL:—I take my pen to write you of my great relief and that the awful pain in my side has left me at last—thanks to your medicine. Oh, Doctor, how thankful I am that I can get some sleep. I can never write it enough. I thank you again and again, and am sure that you are really the friend of all sufferers. I could not help writing to you, and hope you will not take it amiss. JAMES MYERS,
116 Avenue, D.

This is to certify that I was discharged from the army with Chronic Diarrhœa, and have been cured by Dr. Maggiel's Pills.

WILSON HARVEY,
NEW YORK, April 7, 1866. 27 Pitt Street.

The following is an interesting case of a man employed in an Iron Foundry, who, in pouring melted iron into a flask that was damp and wet, caused an explosion. The melted iron was thrown around and on him in a perfect shower, and he was burnt dreadfully. The following certificate was given to me, by him, about eight weeks after the accident:

NEW YORK, Jan. 11, 1866.

My name is Jacob Hardy; I am an Iron Founder. I was badly burnt by hot iron in November last; my burns healed, but I had a running sore on my leg that would not heal: I tried Maggiel's Salve and it cured me in a few weeks. This is all true and anybody can see me at Jackson's Iron Works, 3d Avenue.

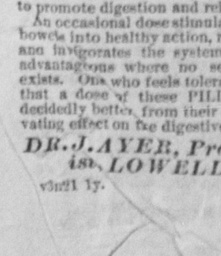
Ayer's Cathartic Pills
For all the Purpose of a Laxative medicine.



Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use in every county and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill.—The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them: those who have not, knows that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterous drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh, and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions from the stomach' bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Langnor and loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, BILLIOUS HEADACHE, SICK HEADACHE, JAUNDICE or GREEN SICKNESS, BILLIOUS COLIC and BILLIOUS FEVERS, they should be judiciously taken for each case to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back or Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For DROPSY and DROPSICAL SWELLINGS they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a DINNER PILL, take one or two PILLS to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these PILLS makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

These Pills are the most delightfully pleasant purgative, superseding castor oil, salts, magnesia etc. There is nothing more acceptable to the stomach. They give tone, and cause neither nausea nor griping pains. They are composed of the finest ingredients. After a few days' use of them, such an invigoration of the entire system takes place as to appear miraculous to the weak and enervated, whether arising from imprudence or disease. H. T. Helmbold's Compound Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Pills are not sugar-coated, from the fact that sugar-coated Pills do not dissolve, but pass through the stomach without dissolving, consequently do not produce the desired effect. THE CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, being pleasant in taste and odor, do not necessitate their being sugar-coated. PRICE FIFTY CENTS PER BOX.

It causes a frequent desire, and gives strength to Urinate, thereby removing Obstructions, Preventing and Curing Strictures of the Urethra, Allaying Pain and Inflamation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling all Poisonous matter.

Thousands who have been the victims of incompetent persons, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found they have been deceived, and that the "Poison" has, by the use of "powerful astringents," been dried up in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, and perhaps after Marriage.

Use HELMBOD'S EXTRACT BUCHU for all Affections and Diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. PRICE ONE DOLLAR AND FIFTY CENTS PER BOTTLE.

But however valuable as a remedy for existing defects of the skin, H. T. Helmbold's Rose Wash has long sustained its principle claim to undounded patronage, by possessing qualities which render it a Toilet Appendage of the most Superlative and Congenial character, combining in an elegant formula those prominent requisites, safety and efficacy—the invariable accompaniments of its use—as a Preservative and Refresher of the Complexion. The Great Medical Discovery!

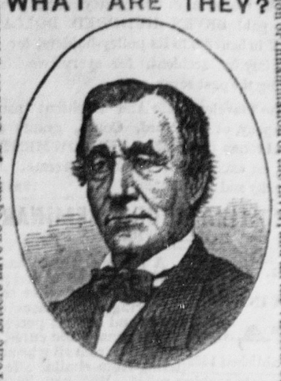
Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?



They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. Send for a circular.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

WHITE FISH, herring Mackerel &c., at BURNSIDE & THOMAS'.

FARM AND HOUSEHOLD.

Wednesday Morning, June 7, 1871.

Fresh Culture.

Pisciculture is yearly receiving more and more attention, but few people have an idea of what may be accomplished in this direction at comparatively trifling expense by judicious effort. It is said that the black bass, which abound in the Potomac, many of them weighing from three to five pounds, were never known in that river until after, 1854, when a few buckets full of small, young bass were transferred from the Ohio and deposited in the canal basin at Chamberland Maryland, whence they had free access to the Potomac river and its tributaries. In Germany the culture of fish is an important source of income to the inhabitants. In northern Bavaria the whole country is spotted with fish ponds. Wherever there is a marshy place, or lands need be drained they catch the water in a fish pond. Many farms realize as much from their water crop as from their land crop. Sometimes alongt he whole course of a brook one may see dozens of fish ponds, formed by turning the water from the stream, following close one after another. They have therefore in that country always a good supply of fish, nothwithstanding they are far from the sea and have no large river.

An Old Horse.

The Mt. Vernon Free Press says: We recently had our attention called to the old horse "Jackson," formerly the property of Gov. Casey of this place, but now in possession of his son S. K, Casey, upon the old homestead. After searching investigation to the facts in the case, we became fully satisfied he was forty years old last spring, and the facts would indicate that he might with propriety be called several years older. He is a small, dark bay horse. One of his eyes had a part of the upper lid torn off many years since, which causes it to run water almost constantly. His other eye is good. His legs are small, elegantly formed, and without a blemish of any sort. His teeth appear to be sound. He eats heartily of corn, oats hay, &c. He was never known to be sick; is spry and active as most horses at the age of twenty. He has been working upon the farm as occasion required until this year, when it was thought he was entitled to his time and feed, and was honorable retired the remainder of his stay on earth.

HORSES IN CALIFORNIA.—Most of the horses in California are still of Mexican stock, and are admirably adapted to wild pasture and the saddle. They are healthy and hardy; they keep fat on scanty feed; they can travel long distances, even a hundred miles a day, without injury, and after having been broken, they are docile and kind. For general service in the Southern part of the State, they decidedly superior to the American or English horses.—They are usually allowed to run wild until they are four years old and they are then lassoed and broken. On some of the ranches, the old custom of keeping the mates exclusively for breeding is observed, and none save the geldings are used for the saddle or harness.—The Mexican horse is better than any other for herdsmen or vaquero, but is not swift enough for racing, and is not large enough for teaming.

A LARGE DAIRY.—It is said that the second largest dairy in America (the first being that of Chas. Webb Howard, of California) is located about four miles from St. Louis. They are 800 cows in the stable. They are attended by Swiss milkers. The chief food used is ground corn, mixed with oilmeal and malt, cooked by steam.—The average amount of material consumed per day is 400 bushels of malt, 6,000 pounds cut hay, fifty bushels of cornmeal, fifteen sacks of bran and oilmeal; cut hay and bran mixed together are also furnished for food. The Summer pasturage of this mammoth dairy embraces an area of over 1,000 acres of fine rolling land, with numerons springs of water. The average daily yield of milk at the present time is 800 gallons, with eighty gallons of cream.

CACTUS FENCE IN MEXICO.—A California exchange says:

The Cactus fence is an institution peculiar to Mexico. The variety of the plant used for this purpose is called the orgando. It is eight sided, and shoots up straight as an arrow, from ten to twenty feet in height and five to eight inches in thickness. The fence builders cut their cactus in sections of the right length, stick the cut into a trench, cover the earth around it to the depth of a foot, and the fence is made. The places are set as closely together as possible, and as they take root and grow for centuries, the fence improves with age, instead of going to decay like many others.

ASA BALDWIN, Chautauqua Co. N. Y. writes the Rural New Yorker that fifty years ago a very lousy cow of his ate ten or twelve onions, and in fifteen hours after, the lice had disappeared. He has tried the same remedy many times since, with the same result in each case.

HOME NEWS.

SODA WATER.—This delicious beverage is now for sale at all the Drug stores in town.

Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer is the best preparation known, to preserve the hair. Use it.

THE best and largest assortment of fly nets, Ear Bobs and Saddle Nets, in the county, at the low price of from $1 to $10 per sett, at Burnside & Thomas'.

WE would say to the ladies of Bellefonte and vicinity, that if you wish to buy Millinery Goods at greatly reduced prices, and in all varieties, go to Devling's store, where you will be waited on by Miss Mary Zimmerman who is always polite and attentive.

SCHOOL Directors are reminded that the School Department has made a special request this year, to have all the reports in by the 15th of June—not later. Directors will confer a great favor by complying with this request, and receive their appropriation the sooner for it.—The Report and Certificates must both come together—one without the other is useless. The old President must swear to the correctness of the Report, etc., and this oath cannot be made until the new Treasurer has given his Bond, with approved security, and a statement of the finances of the District, published either in one of the County papers or by written handbills, not less than ten in number. These matters can be attended to at once, and the Reports sent in.

The Report must contain the new officers' names. Hurry up the Reports, Gentlemen.

R. M. MAGEE, Co. Sup't.

HONOR TO WHOM, &C.—It is with pleasure we chronicle the success of the free schools of Bellefonte. No town in the State of Pennsylvania can boast of as good public buildings, and no town in the State can boast of a better teacher or Principal than Prof. D. H. Hastings. We have eight schools, the teachers are all good and at another time we will make honorable mention of their names. At present we wish to say that Prof. Hastings as a teacher of youth has few if any superiors in the State. Highly educated as he is, fitted for any of the learned professions, he prefers from choice the Profession of teaching. Two years ago he was forced by his friends to be a candidate for the office of County Superintendent. He did not want it. He did not work for it; yet he should have been elected, and if he had placed himself in our hands (we do not say it boastingly) he would have been. He should have been, every Republican in the county now admits this as a fact, and if the Republican school directors had done their duty Prof. Hastings would have been to-day Superintendent of the Common schools of Centre county. We hope that the Republicans will learn wisdom from the past and never again permit good and true men to be slaughtered and the cause of education to suffer. Our public schools well attest the ability of Prof. Hastings, and our citizens without regard to party predilections join in attributing to him all the qualifications and attributes of a highly educated gentleman.

UNIONVILLE, June 5th, 1871.

MESSRS. EDITORS:

It is almost unnecessary to say that we are enjoying warm weather—upon every street corner, in the stores and shops, you are immediately told "it is hot," or asked if it "isn't hot," as though we were devoid of common sense and not capable of discriminating between Mercury below and Mercury above Zero. We have a man up here, however, who will salute you with, "it's fine weather," if it has been raining for a week. We saw you upon our streets last Friday evening, Col., but had not time to talk with you; and we think your stay was too short to see the various improvements in progress in and about our village. You must come again, remain longer and we will show you around. We had quite a destructive fire just below town one night last week, the new saw mill of B. F. Leathers & Co., was entirely consumed. Everything appeared all right when the workmen left in the evening, but a spark is supposed to have been smouldering somewhere which needed but a slight breeze to fan it into a flame of destruction. Loss about one thousand dollars. No insurance. It will be rebuilt immediately.

We have recently had a borough election, and the choice of the citizens, independent of partisan feeling and prejudices, was, for Chief Burgess, Richard Catlow. He is an English gentleman of the old school, and well versed in ancient and modern history. We have no fear now of the morals of our citizens, or the thrift of our borough when Mr. Catlow brings his long and well known executive abilities to bear directly upon his arduous office.

OCCASIONAL.

For the REPUBLICAN.

DECORATION DAY AT BOALSBURG.—This day was duly observed by the citizens of this place.

In accordance with an announcement made in our churches, a preliminary meeting was held on Monday evening previous. S. H. Stover, Esq., being elected President, and Mr. Henry Keller, Jr., Secretary. With great unanimity an order of procession and general arrangements were made. I mention this preliminary meeting, believing that much of the success of the affair depended upon these previous arrangements.

At about half past five on Tuesday evening, the procession was formed at the Academy, in the following order:

Boalsburg Saxe Horn Band.
Ministers, President and Speaker.
Choir in charge of H. Keller, Jr.
Little girls dressed in white with blue sashes, carrying flowers.
Little boys bearing wreaths.
Soldiers and Militia men.
Ladies.
Gentlemen.

The Marshal Mr. John Stuart, and Assistant Marshal, W. A. Jacobs, assisted by others, arranged the procession and conducted it admirably to the cemetery.

The following order of exercises on the ground was observed. The soldiers passing between the lines of children, received their wreaths and flowers and marched to a selected spot. After singing America by the choir, prayer was offered by Rev. J. T. Williams. A dirge by the band was followed by the reading of an address prepared for the occasion, by the G. A. R., of Pennsylvania. The address was read by the Marshal, Mr. John Stuart, with earnestness and feeling, and listened to with marked attention. After another dirge by the band, the procession was again formed, and passing by the graves of the honored dead, upon them the soldiers deposited the wreaths and flowers, tokens of love and affection, and respect due the memory of the brave.

After again returning to their former position, the speaker selected for the occasion made some remarks and the exercises were concluded by the singing of an appropriate ode by the choir, and the Benediction pronounced by Rev. W. A. Groh.

Altogether the arrangements passed off well. Quite a concourse of citizens attended and all seemed rejoiced that they could thus meet together to honor the memory of the heroes who gave their lives to their country. Surely such meetings are not in vain, but must result in good in awakening feelings of patriotism, and veneration for our country's defenders. G. W. L.

BURNSIDE & THOMAS' Molasses and Syrups are unsurpassed and will commend themselves for their purity and delicacy of flavor, at extreme low prices.

NEW STORE.—We are happy to announce to our readers, the fact that J. & G. Alexander have opened a new store in Unionville, Centre county. John and George Alexander are well known to all our people. George Alexander it is universally conceeded was one of the best Sheriff's Centre county ever had. We will run him again when the proper time come's. But we are not on politics now. What we want to say is that J. & G. Alexander has one of the finest stores we have ever seen in the country. All they have is new. They have repaired and repainted their dwelling and store. A look at either makes you feel like buying. They claim to sell cheaper than our Bellefonte merchants. They say they can do it, because they have no rent to pay, and no clerks to hire. We think they are right. Look at the prices. Prints from 8 to 12½ cents, Muslin from 8 to 16, Bleached Muslin from 8 to 20 cts., Sugars from 10 to 15 cts. for best white. The best brown sugar 14 cts. per pound. Best Syrup 90 cts. per gallon, and here let us say it is as good as any we have ever bought for $1,40. Prunes 16 cts. per pound; Rice 12½ cts. Dried peaches, halves 18 cts. per pound. Apples paired 10 cts. per pound. Coffee browned 25 cts; best Rio, 24 cts. per pound. Ginghams from 10 to 19 cts. per yard. We refer to these merely as a sample of prices. The Sheriff told us that it would pay the Bellefonters and all the people of Bald Eagle valley to come to Unionville and purchase their goods. He says it will pay to come and buy $20 worth. Out of this amount you can take supper at the excellent Hotel of George Taylor, and still save your fair and two or three dollars besides. Call and see them.

For the REPUBLICAN.

LIBERTY TWP., June 5th, 1871.

MR. EDITOR:—As it is customary, at this season of the year, for farmers to publish in your local columns, of the over-growth of their grain, I would submit a few lines which you may insert if you see proper. In passing through my rye field, last week, I observed what seemed to be unusually tall in growth, and, prompted by curiosity, I measured a stalk and found it to be seven feet nine inches in heighth. This rye was sown on the 15th of last October, consequently getting but little start in the fall.

I wish to be understood that I don't challenge competition, but if any of our neighboring farmers can beat this, we would be glad to have them report.

Respectfully Yours,
H. THOMPSON.

NEWS FROM OTHER COUNTIES.

MIFFLIN COUNTY.

We clip, from the Gazette the following items:

One of the Morrison boys caught a snapper on an out line last week which weighed 17 pounds. It was bought by the Coleman House.....——Harris, one of McKee's gang on the Mifflin & Centre railroad, took off one of his finger nails last week while driving a spike. ....Ort & Waream's ice wagon is now making its daily rounds. Jos. A. Major is also furnishing ice to all applicants, so that everybody can keep cool. .....A shaft sunk on Jacob Ort's place, just below the cap of the Big Ridge, is yielding an excellent hematite ore, and is now used at Glamorgan Furnace..... A little son of Will Mull, aged about two years, had a needle run into his breast one day last week; two doctors were in attendance, who put him under the influence of chloroform to cut it out....A horse and cart, the property of Glamorgan Iron Co., fell over the bank at the lower end of the stone bridge, on Monday afternoon, the animal receiving injuries from the fall and hot cinder from which he will probably not recover.....It is said a boy about 12 years of age came to one of our stores on Wednesday last, and asked for something to put on his finger. His story was that he had smashed it, and that "pap had tied a string around it right tight, and then cut it off with a razor. ...The Democrat says that Roscoe, a little son of Calvin B. North, cashier of the First National Bank of Selingsgrove, aged about six years, fell from a work bench on the 16th ult., breaking his arm at the elbow joint.....Daniel Finegal, formerly of Decatur township, in this county, (brother-in-law to Elias Rheam,) was killed at Lanark, Illinois, on the 15th of May, under the following circumstances. He had dug a well 40 feet deep, and was at work at the bottom, when the heavy bucket used for drawing up debris, by some accident broke loose and fell upon him, causing a severe fracturing of the skull, from which he died next day. His age was 39 years 1 month and 6 days.....Charlie C. Frysinger, aged six years, son of the editor of this paper, whilst attempting to reach a skiff at the end of the pier, just below the river bridge, fell flat upon his face into deep water, and immediately strangled, thus becoming helpless, and would have floated into the rapid current and been drowned, (because the boys who were with him were too small to render assistance,) had not William Cunningham, a lad about 16 years of age, who happened to be fishing near by, plunged in and rescued him. As it was, it took some time before Charlie fully recovered his breath. It is to be hoped it will be a good lesson to him, and that he and other little boys of his age, will keep away from the water hereafter.

HUNTINGDON COUNTY.

The Globe says that, on the 27th ult, Fairman Flenner, a son of Mr. John Flenner of this place, aged about seventeen years, was drowned at the dam, below town, in the following manner: In the morning he in company with some other boys, went fishing, and after fishing for some time he went into the dam to bathe. While sitting on the bank of the island, at the breast of the dam, he slipped into the water, and was carried over, and before any assistance could reach him, he sank lifeless to the bottom. Efforts were made the same day to extricate him, but were futile, until the next morning a party of our citizens went to the spot, and after an hour's search, found his body a short distance from where he was drowned. The young man was an apprentice in the Monitor office, and was a faithful boy, intelligent and promising. His unfortunate death was deeply felt by our community as was evinced by the large number who attended the funeral on Sunday afternoon.....The Rev. Cyrus Jeffries, not long since obtained a Charter for the organization of a new religious sect. The leading feature in the doctrines of this new ism, is there hostility to the orthodox doctrine of the Resurrection of the natural body.

Mr. Jeffries has resurrected the long since-exploded doctrine of the Gnostics on the Resurrection, a small sect of heretics that existed in the second century. And upon this rock he builds the "Church of Christ in America." On last Sabbath the founder of this new sect preached and administered the ordinance of baptism to five adults in Springfield township this county. Three of whom he immersed and the other two he baptized by pouring.

We learn that the few, but earnest followers of Mr. Jeffries in Springfield are actively engaged in erecting a house, in which this peculiar doctrine will be regularly promulgated

IF you want Fine Groceries, at low prices, go to Burnside & Thomas'. Their stock embraces the finest assortment in the county.

WOOLEN FACTORY.—We direct the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Keller, Stuart & Co., in another column of the REPUBLICAN. This is one of the fairest and best companies in Centre county, and the Spring creek Woolen Mills can not be surpassed in any county of the State. Farmers will do well to hold on to their wool until the Agent of Keller, Stuart & Co., comes around. They pay the biggest prices in cash; or when they trade goods for wool, they guarantee their goods, and sell them at reasonable prices. We say to the readers of the REPUBLICAN and we mean what we say, this is a first class firm, and we ask for it your corcial support.

GREAT bargains in Boots & Shoes, Hats &c., at Burnside & Thomas'. They have a superb assortment.

THE Village Record says: All that is needed for a glorious victory this fall is work. Let every one do his whole duty and our success is assured. The State is undeniably Republican, and will give a handsome Republican majority, unless the members of the party are faithless to their trust.

—General Hooker has gone to Michigan.

THE REPURLICAN PARTY AND ITS MISSION.

In our last article, we spoke of the causes that brought the Republican party into being, and briefly traced its history down to that contest in Nov, '60, when it unrolled its banner in the triumph of victory. That contest emphatically affirmed the equal rights of all men "the Union of the States—it must and shall be preserved." The notice to which we therein referred, given to all advocates of slavery extension, was now made good by so clear an expression of public sentiment at the ballot box, that the Democratic slave Oligarchy was forced to believe, that no limited time lay between it and the day when the sun should rise not upon a master, nor set upon a slave. So determined had the democratic party become that liberty should be made sectional, and slavery national, that before the 4th of March, '61, it had plotted the assassination of the newly elected President on his way to the Capital covered eleven of the stars that glittered in the deep blue of the American flag with a cloud that muttered fearfully and audibly of the thunder and storm of civil war, tried the foundation of a new government upon the tears and groans of a weak and defenceless people, insisting that the question should no longer be open for discussion, that capital should be master of the labor it employed, and that this should go before the nations of the earth as an established feature of American Democracy.

The grand work upon which the Republican party then entered, was the restoration of the States of the Union, the complete establishment of congressional authority over every acre of the national domain, and to make secure to the most humble, as well as the most exalted citizen, the privileges and immunities guaranteed by the constitution, then trodden under foot by Democratic perjury and treason. It was a work of no ordinary interest, calling for the exercise of a power that for more than three quarters of a century had lain dormant in our national constitution, for the want of a subject upon which to act, and now for the first time to be employed with no precedent to guide, and no light to direct, save that by which reason and conscience illumine the path to the future.

Upon this great work the Republican party entered, with the fixed determination to restore law and order where confusion reigned supreme. To accomplish this object, armies were organized upon the land, and navies upon the seas. Men by thousands answered to the call, and money by the millions was lent to sustain the credit and character of the Government abroad and meet its pressing necessities at home. Through every variety of difficulty, the Republican party pressed its way to victory, suffering a loss of five hundred thousand millions of treasure, while the Democratic party was putting forth every possible exertion to undermine and tear down a government, whose mild and beneficent treatment of its citizens had become the wonder and admiration of the civilized world.

We have no time to stop and speak of the manner in which the Democratic party sought their success upon the land and triumph upon the sea, further than to say that after bringing to their aid every appliance of modern warfare, it strove to enlist the savage in its work, and descended to the use of poison, pestilence and famine, to destroy that which Democratic brains and courage failed to accomplish. The party finally punished upon the land, and driven from the ocean, lay meekly at the feet of that authority, which for more than four years it had dishonored and despised, humbly petitioning that its worthless neck might be exempted from a halter it richly merited and deserved, promising never more to lift its treacherous hand in revolt; was granted the pardon for which it so earnestly prayed.

The Republican party found it necessary, during the struggle for the supremacy of order, to proclaim the doctrine of universal emancipation, and declare without reference to race, color, or condition, that all men stood upon an equality before the law. To this end, it commenced the work of reconstruction in the rebel States. The party finding these States without laws in harmony with the national Government, and without the necessary power to restore themselves to their former allegiance, at once entered upon the work of restoration.—It had already laid before the people of the whole country, such amendments to the fundamental law of the land, as would be required to protect the newly acquired right, to which four millions of people had been elevated, once classed among the chattels personal of the States. These amendments had been duly ratified, and rights and immunities vested under them, which the Government was bound to protect, by such just and equitable legislation, as it had authority to adopt, and which the Republican party regarded an imperative duty to see fully established in all the States of the Union before it can be said that its mission is complete.

Had the States in revolt acquiesced in the terms generously imposed by the Government, and in good faith tried to abide by the conditions upon which they surrendered, the Republican party might then justly claim that its work was done, and sought new issues upon which to go before the people for an extension of its power. But so long as the Democratic party shall continue to denounce as unconstitutional the reconstruction acts of Congress, it cannot be truthfully said, that life and property are safe in the rebel States, except in occasional localities. Not only do the people oppose the national authority, but the Executive, legislative and judicial power of the rebel States, are in open hostility to the personal rights of Republican citizens. Yea more—The Democratic party in many States have their secret organizations, wherein they clothe themselves in the garments of the Devil, and at the hour of midnight, prowl about the country pounding and murdering defenceless men and women, pretending to have received their authority to commit their deeds of violence from their Right Worthy Grand Master, who reigns supreme in the sulphurous regions of the damned; and this last claim, is the only truth they promulgate.

The open hostility of the Democratic party to the execution of honest and equitable laws, must continue the necessity of the Republican party in power, for years yet to come; nor will its mission be accomplished, until the Democratic party shall have become a party of law-loving and law-abiding citizens.

In our next we shall call attention to certain acts of Congress, which it is the duty of the Republican party to see carried into execution, fully established as the supreme law of the land.

THE GLORY AND THE SHAME.

A complete and satisfactory treaty between England and America, just now being ratified by both enlightened nations, says the Booneville, (Mo.,) Eagle adds still another ray of glory to the progressive party now in power. In the midst of threatened difficulties the jealous rivals met as nations of intelligence and cordially agreed upon terms of settlement honorable to both, thereby surprising and disappointing a fussy class of people called Democrats. One glorious achievement after another has marked the whole course of the Republican party from the time of its organization to the present. Its career has been grand and successful, and its measures have all along been approved and vindicated by the enlightened world. It first elected a President upon a platform that declared the Territories free until made slaves by a vote of the people. Strange to say this plank they rebelled against the majority rule adopted by Jefferson, Washington, Adams and others of olden time. This conduct waked up the people and caused them to consider the trouble that the spirit of vassalage was giving the nation.

As soon as it was found necessary to destroy slavery to save the Union, the Republican party espoused the cause of freedom. The Union was saved and proved a blessing. Freedom prevailed and that proved a blessing also. Each progressive step made during and since the war by the Republican party, in opposition to the efforts of the Democratic party, proved to be a blessing to the country.

And now, when we are at peace with all nations abroad, while they are at war with each other, and when we are prospering at home, why cannot we all be happy and contented? The foreigner asks, is it possible that in this favored land there is a heart that refuses to throb in unison with that of his patriotic neighbor? Ah! indeed, we must admit that our country has its shame as well as its glory. Covering up the past, as we would cheerfully do, so far as the history of the Democratic acts are concerned, we still find those who have not become wise by experience, but who still hanker after Democracy, slavery, rebellion, and have in their breasts a cankering hatred to those who would be happy in the situation. While we would like to see the battle-fields grow over with bushes and hear the tender notes of the birds therefrom, instead of the death dealing armory; while we would like to be at peace with all men, and good naturedly strive to make everything around us cheerful, we are met by the intelligence of crimes of a Governor and his mobs in the South East—we are met by the old insults, such as "you stole our niggers." We see journals patronized that keep up a satanic denunciation of citizens from New England. We hear the same old unpatriotic words, "Northern" and "Southern" used in an offensive sense, and we see a disposition to insult those of the traveling public who do not carry the appearance of fortunes with them, by calling them "carpet-baggers and scallawags." This we call part of the shame of the present day, all of which will yet be crushed under the wheels of Progress.
